Page 8: Universal provision of sanitary products

Q2. Do you think a universal, card-based system (modelled on the c-card system for free condoms) would be an effective means of providing sanitary products for free to those who need them?

Yes

Please explain the reasons for your response

Universality is one of the core defining principles of our welfare state. It has been proven time and time again to be the best way to effectively distribute resources. I believe this would also be the best way to ensure nobody goes without sanitary products.

Q3. Which of the following best expresses your view in relation to a card-based system?

The card should be available to anyone; card-holders should have unlimited access to free sanitary products

Please explain the reasons for your response.

I believe the card based system would be an effective way of ensuring women have access to the sanitary products they require.

Q4. Do you have a view on which locations would be most suitable for dispensing free sanitary products (e.g. GP surgeries, pharmacies, community centres, health clinics)?

Free sanitary products should be available in as wide ranging locations as possible.

Q5. Do you agree that there should be specific obligations on schools, colleges and universities to make sanitary products available for free (via dispensers in toilets)?

Yes

Please explain the reasons for your response

Schools have a duty of care to students and staff. This ought to extend to ensuring sanitary products are readily available.
