Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposed Bill?

Partially supportive

Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposed Bill?

Please explain the reasons for your response

Agree in principle, although not currently convinced that sanitary products should be free to those on higher incomes. That said, appreciate any systems put in place for checking incomes / affordability may well negate financial benefits of doing so. It would also be important to avoid any potential stigma for those on lower income levels who receive free products.

Page 8: Universal provision of sanitary products

Q2. Do you think a universal, card-based system (modelled on the c-card system for free condoms) would be an effective means of providing sanitary products for free to those who need them?

Yes

Please explain the reasons for your response

Not familiar with the c-card system but if it works well sounds like a sensible approach

Q3. Which of the following best expresses your view in relation to a card-based system?

The card should be available only to those on low incomes or in receipt of benefits; card-holders should have unlimited access to free sanitary products

Please explain the reasons for your response.

Everyone has different needs. Given the nature of the products it is probably a relatively low risk that the system would be widely misused (i.e. those who qualify for free products obtaining them for those who don't), or at least one that's worth accepting as adding controls could be more costly.

Q4. Do you have a view on which locations would be most suitable for dispensing free sanitary products (e.g. GP surgeries, pharmacies, community centres, health clinics)?

Pharmacies and health clinics, but why not also in high street supermarkets if a card system was used?

Page 11: Schools, colleges and universities

Q5. Do you agree that there should be specific obligations on schools, colleges and universities to make sanitary products available for free (via dispensers in toilets)?

Yes

Page 12: Personal experience (questions 6 and 7 are for individual respondents only)

Q6. Have you ever struggled to access or afford sanitary products during menstruation? (e.g. financial barriers, unexpected circumstances, health issues)

No

Q7. If sanitary products were available for free, which of the following would apply to you?

I would not expect to claim free products

Please explain the reasons for your response

Currently in a position where I can afford sanitary products but would claim should my circumstances change

Page 14: Financial implications

Q8. Taking account of both costs and potential savings, what financial impact would you expect the proposed Bill to have on:

	Significant increase in cost	Some increase in cost	Broadly cost-neutral	Some reduction in cost	Significant reduction in cost	Unsure
(a) Government and the public sector (e.g. local authorities, the NHS)		X
(b) Colleges and universities			X
(c) Businesses (including suppliers/retailers of sanitary products)			X
(d) Individuals (including consumers of sanitary products)				X

Q9. Are there ways in which the Bill could achieve its aim more cost-effectively (e.g. by reducing costs or increasing savings)?

No Response

Q10. What overall impact is the proposed Bill likely to have on equality, taking account of the following protected characteristics (under the Equality Act 2010): age, disability, gender re-assignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion and belief, sex, sexual orientation?

Slightly positive

Q11. In what ways could any negative impact of the proposed Bill on equality be minimised or avoided?

Direct, up front communication. Use of these products is a necessity (it's totally unreasonable to expect women in today's society to use rags as the Victorians did!). Menstruation is a natural process and women shouldn't be financially disadvantaged because of it.

Page 18: Sustainability

Q12. Do you consider that the proposed Bill can be delivered sustainably i.e. without having likely future disproportionate economic, social and/or environmental impacts?

Unsure

Please explain the reasons for your response:

Would need to know more about the economic side but can't see that there would be negative social and/or environmental impacts
